Greetings From The Director

by John Schiemer

As the season comes to a close, there is much to celebrate. There have been a number of outstanding performances by all of our athletes this year. This includes Freeride athletes who for the first time competed in a Development Competition, and Nordic athletes who for the first time competed in one of our Citizen Races. Or an Alpine Mini World Cup athlete who for the first time entered the start shack with butterflies in their stomach at the top of Cliffhanger. Finally, former MBSEF athlete Laurenne Ross makes the podium in a World Cup Downhill Race. It was great fun digging through our vast photo archive to find the “old photo” of Laurenne. Congratulations Laurenne, we are very proud of you and all of our athletes.

Unfortunately, this is also the time of year where some of our coaches decide to make life decisions. I would like to sincerely thank Anna Schulz, one of our Nordic Coaches, who will be returning home to the East Coast to attend graduate school this fall. Anna has been with us for two years and has done an outstanding job with our Nordic Athletes. She will be greatly missed. Her enthusiasm and zest for life are infectious, and the friendships she has formed with our older athletes will hopefully last a lifetime. Although replacing Anna will be difficult to do, we hope to make an announcement sometime this summer on who will be taking on this role.

As spring approaches, our Cycling program is kicking off with two after school sessions. These sessions begin April 10 and again on May 15. Our Cycling Program is a great way for our athletes to stay connected with their MBSEF friends as well as maintain and improve their fitness. We will also be running the short track mountain bike races at COCC in May, and the Criterium Series at Summit High School which also begins in June. Ali Halpin, our Cycling Program Coordinator, is happy to answer any questions you have about our program or our cycling events.

In closing, I have thoroughly enjoyed this past year and am looking forward to the spring and summer events. I have appreciated the unsolicited comments and input that so many of you have provided on how to improve MBSEF. Although we may not be able to implement change for every idea, it is good to hear feedback, whether it is positive or negative. My objective is to help make the organization better, so your comments are helpful. Finally, it is impossible for me to thank all the people who help make MBSEF such a great organization in this issue of Ski Tracks. However, I would like to thank all of you who have volunteered your time and financial support this past season; as they say, “you know who you are”. We could not put on high quality training or events for our athletes and the Central Oregon community without your help. On behalf of the MBSEF Board of Directors, thank you for your ongoing support.

Hooray! It’s that time of year again!

MBSEF is again one of the lucky recipients of 500 $25 Mt. Bachelor Ski Vouchers, good on weekdays April 8-12 and 22-26. Help us pass the word to any of your family and friends, coworkers, anyone at all!

We will give out vouchers on a first come, first serve basis. You take the voucher to the Mt. Bachelor ticket office, and pay only $25 for a day of skiing or riding. Once the tickets are redeemed at the mountain, Mt. Bachelor donates 100% of the proceeds back to MBSEF.

MBSEF only receives the $25 per voucher if they are actually used. Our goal is to give out all 500 of them to people that will actually use them.

In January, we had over 92% redemption rate for our 500 tickets we gave out. Mt. Bachelor tells us that his was the record! That equaled $11,550 Mt. Bachelor donated to MBSEF. Thank you Mt. Bachelor!

Please email Kathy at kkurtz@mbsef.org or Molly at molly@mbsef.org if you would like to reserve them. We will hold them for you in will call at our office. You will be able to pick them up on your way up to the mountain - we’re right on the way. Thank you for your support, and a huge thanks to Mt. Bachelor for this incredibly generous donation!

PPP XC Race Clinics
Be A PPP Winner!
by Dan Simoneau

Fine tune your PPP Nordic skate skills. The U.S. Bank Pole Pedal Paddle is coming up, and the MBSEF Nordic Staff will be offering skate clinics to help you take minutes off your time of what is often thought to be the most important leg of the PPP. Coaching will be led by Dan Simoneau, 3 time PPP Champion, 3 time US Olympian, and Nordic Program Director at MBSEF.

These clinics will focus on body position, timing, balance, strength, and tactics. These will be small groups with skiers divided by ability and experience. Sessions will last 90 minutes. Weather permitting, video review will be available.

These are clinics to improve your skating. If you have not skated before contact the Mt. Bachelor Nordic Center for a learn to ski lesson. They are better trained to help new skaters.

Cost is $20 per session. Registration is through MBSEF. To register, call 541-388-0002. You need to have a Mt. Bachelor trail pass, season pass, or spring pass. Meet in front of the trail map outside the Nordic Center.

MBSEF Cycling Program Is Here!

Cycling season is just around the corner! Cycling is great cross training for winter sports, so grab a friend and come join the MBSEF Cycling program this spring and summer.

After school mountain biking will be starting up Wednesday, April 10th and will run into June. Coaches will pick up kids from school on early release Wednesdays to go ride the local trails. There are two sessions to choose from for after school mountain biking. Session 1 runs April 10-May 1, and Session 2 runs from May 15-June 5.

We will also offer an after school road cycling program, session dates TBD.

Two week mountain biking summer sessions will start up the week of June 17. Swing by the Foundation or hop on our webpage, mbsef.org, to sign up today! Please contact our Cycling Coordinator, Ali Halpin, ahalpin@mbsef.org, with any questions regarding our cycling programs.

Tutoring Available at MBSEF

As the 12/13 season begins, and kids start travelling to races and missing school, group and/or individual tutoring is again available to middle and high school MBSEF athletes for a low fee. The tutoring schedule will depend on athletes’ needs and the availability of a tutor for each subject. Most tutoring sessions will take place after practice at MBSEF. For more information, please contact Anna Schulz at anna.r.schulz@gmail.com, 802-760-0569. Or call Carolyn Daubeney at 541-610-7225.

Dr. Zack Porter, You’re Awesome!!

Dr. Zack Porter, DDS, with Skyline Dental, LLC, is again offering our currently enrolled MBSEF junior athletes free x-rays, exam, and cleaning. Zack also volunteers on weekends for MBSEF, coaching in the Freeride Ski Development program.

“This will be the third year I’m offering this service for MBSEF athletes and it has been awesome to have kids and families come in that love skiing as much as I do!

Supporting MBSEF and our community is something I feel strongly about doing and feel lucky to be able to do it. If it’s been a while since your son or daughter has had their teeth cleaned please give us a call.”

I’m honored to offer free x-rays, exam, and cleanings to all current MBSEF Junior Athletes. Please call our office and mention the MBSEF program with Dr. Porter to set up an appointment.

Have a great season!

USSA Rev Tour - Sun Valley

The Freeride Ski and Snowboard team recently traveled to the third and final stop in the USSA Revolution Tour held at Dollar Mountain in Sun Valley. It was wildly successful for our athletes in less than perfect conditions, but the courses were the best we have seen to date, and the competition was steep.

For the ski side we had two athletes, Hunter and Jake, compete in Pipe and the Slopestyle disciplines, with both making top 20 in Pipe and both making top 25 in slope. The fields were large with almost 50 in pipe and almost 70 in slope. This was also the North American Amateur finals for freeski and the fields were full of heavy hitters.

On the snowboard side we had Brittany, Zoe, Nathan “Duder”, Dru and Van all compete. Brittany made it to semi-finals in boarder cross and Nathan made it to finals and placed 7th in pipe. It was all around a great experiences with less than perfect weather, but a great course and great competition.

We are proud of our Athletes and the representation we had for Mt. Bachelor and MBSEF.

Last month, U.S. racer Ted Ligety became the first man in 45 years to win three golds in the same world championships.

To win is wonderful, but to win respect is divine.

By Edie Thys Morgan, a former member of the U.S. Ski Team, a two-time Olympian, and the author of Racer-eX, a blog that tackles skiing, competition, parenting, heroes, and...you know, life. Read more at racerex.com. Photo by Mitchell Gunn/ESP _

Hero worship is way overrated. But I make an exception with Ted Ligety. When you have the world’s best skier (today, and on many other days) who also runs a successful business, makes fun a priority, takes a stand on issues for the benefit of fellow athletes, literally shrugs off disappointing runs, and takes time to fist-bump his pint-sized fans on the way up to the podium — when you find all that in one person, I’m good with having my kids worship at his altar.

As a parent and a coach, I am indebted to Ligety for filling this role in their religious training. To be sure, we are not churchgoing people. My kids, however, are well-acquainted with sermons. Ours are usually on Sundays on the way to a ski race and they go something like this: About 15 minutes from the mountain I turn down the music of choice, and look in the rearview mirror to see that I have the majority of their attention. Then I dive in.

“Be a good sport,” they answer. To their credit, they do not groan or roll their eyes (yet). Then we go in to a brief review of what that involves, chiefly about being a good winner and a good loser.

We have a little quiz about things good winners do: accept congratulations gratefully and graciously, ask others how they did, support teammates, refrain from gloating, thank coaches and race workers, etc. And then, even though it is less fun to imagine, we review what good losers do: congratulate the winners, control frustration, be happy for teammates, avoid making scenes or excuses, etc.

It’s not over until I bust out my favorite line, because while preaching is easily forgotten, scare tactics often stick: “Twenty years from now nobody is going to remember how you do in this race. But everyone will remember if you’re a bad sport.” I know this is true because of a story my dad once told me about a famous ski racer who after the awards ceremony disassembled her trophy and loudly proclaimed it “cheap.” To this day I cannot recall one of that athlete’s racing accomplishments, but I have a crystal clear vision of that unfortunate scene played out before my birth. And now my kids do too. I doubt that racer would be proud if she knew.

They indulge me these sermons, and all the little stories that go along with them, perhaps because they know I can’t help myself from yammering into them the messages that were yammered into me as a kid. But they are also building their own image of sportsmanship from real world scenarios. What stands out at the end of the race day is rarely an exceptional run, but often particular comments, gestures, or behaviors that range from endearing to appalling. Especially in the heat of competition, sportsmanship matters. It shows that you can see beyond your own performance. It shows that you respect the efforts of everyone out there, and it shows that you are worthy of their respect as well.

That sense isn’t innate — it is learned, usually at home. Phil Mahre grew up being reminded to “be nice to the people on the way up because they’re the same ones you’ll meet on the way down.” Last summer I asked Ted Ligety about what or who instilled his sense of sportsmanship. “My parents I guess,” he grinned, adding, “I’m pretty sure they wouldn’t have kept paying for me to do this if I was a jerk.” Note that these parents are not obsessed with outcomes and even if they’d had the opportunity, I doubt they would have tweeted or posted their kids’ results.

Parents may have the most opportunities to instill and support the value of sportsmanship, but they are not the only influencers. Recently I asked my parents about a race day ritual that was set in stone when I was growing up. After every race, no matter how much we felt like slinking away, we had to congratulate the winner. And win or lose we had to thank the person who put on the race. It was often a mad scramble to track down the right people so I could get on with the rest of the day’s shenanigans, but I always did it because I liked the way it made those people smile.

And let’s be real. I did it because it was a rule. I asked my parents how they, who were not hugely into sports as kids, knew to prioritize sportsmanship by requiring those acts.

“That doesn’t sound like anything I’d have made you do,” my dad replied with an honesty that can only come from complete disassociation with a concept.

“I wish it was me,” my mom admitted, “but I think it was your coach.”

I thought back to that coach, the one I remembered as a quaint fixture of my junior racing days, who happened to be at the helm of many fun adventures. But then I remembered how he’d host the race families at his house to wax our skis the night before a race. To prepare for our most challenging race of the year, at a place notorious for complicated course sets, he’d unfurl a roll of toilet paper onto which he had copied the entire course as we would see it the next day. He clearly wanted us to do well, and took pride in our performance but he also had a higher purpose. He wanted us to be a team, to love the sport and to be good sports first.

So here’s to you, Paul Arthur. It may have taken me close to 40 years to recognize all that you taught me, but God knows as a parent and a coach you had to have patience.

And here’s to you Ted Ligety, for being a hero worthy of worship. Thank you for not throwing a fit when you fell six gates into the Kitzbuhel slalom or when your ski came off just before the finish in Wengen. Thank you for remembering to smile and laugh and keep it fun even when the pressure is on. There is a reason the competition smiles when congratulating you. Thank you for showing your many fans, large and small, that you can take the high road all the way to the top.

The Annual MWC Banquet Was Held March 23, 2013 At Summit High School

All of us here at MBSEF would like to give a huge thank you to Nancy Prichard Bouchard for again this year procuring all of the wonderful give away swag for the MWC Banquet. Nancy, without your hard work, and your wonderful contacts in the retail sporting goods world, we would not have the fabulous prizes to hand out to the kids. THANK YOU!!! And, THANK YOU to the retailers for their generosity!!! Below are some of the companies whose generosity gave our kids huge smiles during the evening:

MBSEF MISSION STATEMENT
The Mt. Bachelor Sports Education Foundation is a non-profit organization dedicated to the development and support of competitive Alpine, Cross Country and Snowboard race training and competition in Central Oregon. MBSEF provides the opportunity for introduction to advanced levels of race training and competition.

Our main objective is to assist student athletes in achieving their individual athletic, academic and personal goals. The program’s guiding philosophy is to encourage academic achievement and promote the positive values of competitive sport: sportsmanship, self-discipline, goal setting, character building and the pursuit of healthy lifetime activities.
